A close-up photograph of a boat shaft, likely for an outboard motor. The shaft is primarily black with a white section at the top. The word "NAUTIX" is printed in large, white, sans-serif capital letters on the black section. At the top of the shaft, there is a white plastic boot or cap. A red rope is tied around the shaft near the boot. The shaft is resting on a light-colored, textured surface, possibly concrete or stone. In the background, a grey pipe is visible in the upper left corner.
