

Welcome Guide

Here's a little help on navigating this Workshop Kit

This hands-on workshop will give you and your team a simple, inclusive and reusable process using the basic principles of Design Thinking. It will take you from idea generation, right the way through to sketching and creating interactive prototypes.

To make sure you start off on the right foot with this Design Thinking Workshop Kit, here's a breakdown of each file in the folder you've downloaded and how to use them.

The Design Thinking Workshop Kit includes:

Facilitator Guide

Once you've decided who'll be leading the workshop, ensure they read this guide prior to the session. It'll help them explore their role as Facilitator, prepare for the session and access some email templates to help them coordinate this workshop!

Workbook

This is the detailed Workbook each attendee should have to hand. Make sure enough copies are printed for your session, as it gives context to each stage of the Design Thinking process and has templates for written and sketch work.

Workshop Slides

These go hand in hand with the Workbook, they're here to help keep everyone on track in your session. Simply pop the slides up on the big screen for everyone to see and use them as a reference point throughout the workshop.

Presentation Template Slides

Each team will present their solution at the end of the workshop, so, to make sure no one misses a beat and presents their absolute best - we've created template slides for you. They'll need access to this deck in the workshop to fill in their findings and link to their final prototype.
