

A close-up photograph of a metal nozzle or fitting protruding from a metal surface. The nozzle has a circular opening and is surrounded by a larger circular flange. The metal surface shows some signs of wear and discoloration. A dark, flexible hose or pipe is visible in the lower right corner, connected to the nozzle. The overall scene appears to be an industrial or mechanical setting.

2006/02/18