

A large grid of French-English vocabulary entries, organized in columns and rows. Each entry typically consists of a number, a French word, and its English translation. The grid covers a wide range of common and specialized terms.