Preamble

The First International Conference on Polymer Science and Engineering (ICPSE-2025) will take place in hybrid mode, in October from 12 to 13th, 2025.

The First International Conference on Polymer Science and Engineering (ICPSE-2025) aims to bring together leading researchers, industry experts, and scholars to discuss the latest advancements in polymer science, engineering, and computational modeling. Hence, it's more needed to integrate the three fields, in order to have an impact and to bring effective changes in various fields. By fostering interdisciplinary collaboration, ICPSE-2025 will provide a platform for knowledge exchange and drive innovation in polymer research and technology.

The ICPSE-2025 conference provides networking opportunities, promotes industry-academia partnerships, and enhances professional visibility through paper presentations and discussions. Additionally, it encourages sustainable solutions in polymer technology, contributing to future developments in materials science, biomedical applications, and environmental sustainability.

Therefore, this international conference, organized by the Process Engineering Department at Skikda University, serves as a dynamic platform for advancing research in polymer science and engineering. ICPSE-2025 will cover diverse topics, including rubber chemistry, polymer processing, and computational modeling. Leading scientists, researchers, and industry experts will present their latest findings, fostering collaboration and stimulating discussions on cutting-edge developments. We anticipate over 400 participants, including academics and professionals, making this conference a key event for innovation and knowledge exchange in polymer technology.

The organizing committee also encourages socio-economic companies to present their problems likely to be solved by researchers and to present their products, equipment and services concerned the related fields.
